

How will I know the result of my breast screen?

A letter will be mailed to you and your doctor with your consent, or you can receive your results via SMS or email.

What happens if they find something?

Up to 1 in 20 women may be called back for further tests, this does not mean that you have breast cancer.

BreastScreen WA will contact you to discuss the result and explain any other tests needed.

Most things on the breast X-ray that need extra checking are not cancer.

Remember, the earlier a breast cancer is found the better the chance of successful treatment.

Can I be sure I'm OK if the breast X-ray is normal?

Although breast X-rays find most breast cancers (between 70-90%), they won't find them all.

If you notice a lump, nipple discharge or any new and ongoing change in your breasts, you should see your doctor or health professional as soon as possible, even if your breast X-ray was normal.

What else can I do?

- Be aware of any changes in your breast.
- See your doctor straight away if you notice any changes in your breasts.
- Ask your doctor about breast health at your annual check up.

What is breast screening?

It is an X-ray to check women's breasts for early signs of breast cancer.

Why do women need breast screening?

In Australia, breast cancer is one of the most common causes of death from cancer for women.

Finding breast cancer early gives the best chance of successful treatment.

Who should have breast screening?

Free breast screening is available to women aged 40 years and over at BreastScreen WA.

Women over 75 won't get a reminder letter but are still welcome to make an appointment every two years.

It is your choice to continue having a screening mammogram.

How often should I be screened?

Every two years. Once is not enough. Your doctor will tell you if you need to be screened more often.

What happens during a breast X-ray?

To get a clear picture, the breast must be compressed by gently pressing on the breast tissue.

Two X-rays are taken of each breast. Compression of the breast may be uncomfortable, but the X-ray takes only about 10 to 15 seconds.

A very low dose of radiation is used in the screening mammogram.

The whole appointment takes about 15 minutes.

Before you come for a breast X-ray...

- Wear two-piece clothing.
- Don't wear powder or deodorant - it can show on the X-ray.
- Remember to bring your Medicare card.
